Payment for the application and admission procedure

The Conference of Directors of the Musikhochschulen in the Federal Republic of Germany has decided to charge 30 Euros per candidate for participation in the admission procedure at all German music colleges. This payment is intended to minimize the high staff costs incurred in the preparation and carrying out of the admission procedure (e.g. providing examination boards for the individual principal subjects, compulsory piano, music theory, harmony and aural training, often in a multistage selection process).

Whether you have to pay the 30 Euros with your application or not depends on the study programme you are applying for. In order to find out please check the respective information on application and admission on the website of your study programme. Proof of payment must be submitted with the application documents.
